

backyard buddies™

get more enjoyment from our native plants and animals

Become a backyard buddy

Being a backyard buddy doesn't involve any formal commitment. Just do what's right for you, your backyard, and your neighbourhood. You'll have the satisfaction of;

- getting to know your local native plants and animals
- giving plants and animals the natural conditions they need - not only to survive, but to prosper
- making your local environment a more beautiful and enjoyable place
- helping make sure that our native animals and plants are there for our children to enjoy.

Join the backyard buddy community

The backyard buddies community is all about sharing the joy of backyard buddies with people across Australia, and you can join for FREE.

- Chat with other buddies on the backyard buddies forum and share your stories and ideas
- Show off your buddies in the backyard buddies gallery
- Get monthly B-mail full of interesting facts about your backyard plants and animals and tips and ideas on how to attract them.
